KEY DATES

CyberFirst Success! - November 2023

Ms Rowe

We entered 8 teams of Year 8 girls in the NCSC (National Cyber Security Centre) CyberFirst Girls Competition this year. The contest is designed to encourage girls to explore the world of cyber and technology, helping to address the lack of diversity in the UK cyber workforce, where women currently make up just 17%. Teams used range of cyber skills to compete in code cracking, decrypting messages and solving puzzles in the contest.

25 students from South Wolds took part out the 12,500 girls across the UK who took part. I'm delighted to announce one of our teams The Dumplings won the competition for the East Midlands. UK schoolgirls secure victory as champions of NCSC cyber... - NCSC.GOV.UK.

The Dumplings, Maegan C, Amelia P, Freda D-F and Freya F have been invited to the celebration event in Oxford in March for a lunch and gala dinner to celebrate their achievements.

Reading Updates

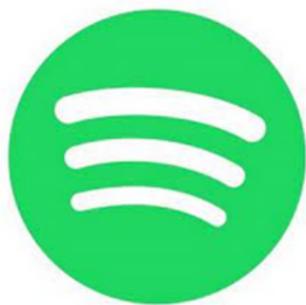

By Ms Haywood

Non-Fiction November

Throughout the month of November, teachers set reading homework across all year groups to encourage access to The Day.com. We saw a significant increase in the amount of engagement with the website, and many students reported how much they enjoyed using the resource. Thank you for your support with this at home; our aim is to move towards more regular reading homework being set by subject areas to highlight how reading can enhance your understanding and engagement of key national and international issues that link to the curriculum.

Tutor Time Reading

Years 8, 9 and 10 have been enjoying reading aloud sessions in registration as a way to broaden their vocabulary and strengthen their comprehension skills. Research suggests that listening to someone read or listening to an audiobook can increase children and young people's understanding of more sophisticated texts, ideas and writing styles, and we hope to expand our use of audiobooks in the new year. In the meantime, did you know that Spotify now offer free audiobooks as part of their premium subscription, and that BBC Sounds has a number of story podcasts that are free to listen to? Both are worth checking out and perhaps listening to as a family, particularly if you are facing a long car journey over the Christmas holidays!

Reading Passports - Years 7 and 8

All students in Years 7 and 8 have access to the library in their English lessons once a fortnight where they are encouraged to explore, share and discuss a range of different texts. As part of these sessions we also look at their Reading Passports to monitor their engagement with reading at home and we have been really impressed by the number of students taking part in this. Many students are now starting to receive rewards for exceptional effort with reading, including free treats from the school canteen! Your support at home with encouraging reading three times a week is most welcome and really does make a difference to how well the students participate in this.

Goodbye to Staff

Mrs Angus

At the end of this term we say a fond farewell to staff who are moving on to pastures new. Mrs Gillen has been a staple of our administrative team for 24 years and we wish her the very best of times as she enjoys her retirement. Dr Cliff, Mr Batstone and Miss Baxter are exploring avenues outside of teaching and we wish them well for their future endeavours. Finally, we wish Miss Georgiou the very best as she moves on to a department leadership role at a secondary school in the city.

A Christmas Carol Trip

By Harikanth K

On Nov 4th, 47 excited year 10 students went with the English team to see Nottingham Playhouse's production of A Christmas Carol - A Ghost Story, starring Keith Allen.

The school trip to watch a live production of "A Christmas Carol" was an absolutely unforgettable experience. The level of talent displayed by the cast was nothing short of amazing. The cast were brilliant, and their commitment to their roles made the story come alive in a way I had never imagined.

The amount of tension and anticipation built throughout the play kept us engaged and immersed in the show. The characters were portrayed perfectly and each line was delivered with pure passion, creating an exciting atmosphere for everyone.

What made the trip even more special was the sheer fun we had together throughout the day. Not a single moment was wasted and it was truly an amazing opportunity we had been given. To summarise, it was a captivating show that I wouldn't miss for the world and would recommend to everybody to watch.

Teacher Training Partnership with Uni of Nottingham

By Miss Crawford

On Tuesday 21st November, we hosted a pilot event in the form of an Immersive Practice Day for an initial teacher training cohort from the University of Nottingham School of Education. The trainee teachers are all part way through the first teaching practice in the fields of English, geography and history.

The foci of the day was on immersive practice to combine the theory and cognitive science of learning to the daily practice and values upheld in our school. The core theme was classroom presence and communication skills to support high expectations for all learners. The programme included expert input and facilitated discussion, lesson observations of a range of teachers looking at inclusive approaches, analysis of observations and practise in a rehearsal environment.

It is no secret that teacher recruitment and retention is facing a crisis with applications to the profession decreasing and teachers leaving the progression increasing. This is particularly prevalent in the East Midlands, which is the second worst affected area in the country. The event offered an opportunity for us to work with the University to support their programme of study and showcase our school to the next generation of teachers in the local area.

The event was recognised as a brilliant opportunity for trainee teachers to visit a school where ‘teachers are doing their jobs so well, making career progression and are seemingly happy’. A colleague from a local Academy joined us for the day and wrote ‘I really enjoyed coming over to your school, it feels like a really fantastic place and your students and colleagues were wonderful. It was great to be able to visit lessons with the trainees and see some really great teaching!’

Feedback from the University:

“We are so grateful to the South Wolds community for inviting us in to spend the day with them. As an Initial Teacher Education provider, we are committed to developing our beginning teachers to become inclusive practitioners who value and respect all learners. The day we spent at South Wolds supported the professional development of our new teachers, as they were able to ‘see’ inclusion in action throughout the whole school. This opportunity, along with the input from expert practitioners, provided an invaluable learning opportunity for our students that will influence and shape their approaches to teaching and learning as well as their ways of being as a teacher. Thank you to everyone who supported our visit.”

GCHQ Christmas Challenge 2023

By Ms Rowe

In lessons on 14th December students in Y10, 11, 12 and 13 took part in the GCHQ Christmas challenge solving puzzles on the Christmas card set by GCHQ. This year's challenge was particularly tricky, but I'm pleased to say, most groups managed to solve the puzzles within their lessons time, and got their completion certificate!

Year 12/13 Summer Placement

By Ms Rowe

David J, a current Year 13 student attended a five-day residential course during the summer holidays at Lancaster University, called "Cyberfirst Advanced". The course was funded by the National Cybersecurity Centre (NCSC), a part of GCHQ. The course focussed on teaching concepts within cybersecurity, such as digital forensics, encryption technologies, penetration testing and open-source intelligence techniques while having fun and meeting new people! David said "The lessons took part within Lancaster University's very spacious library with two tutors who have worked for several years within the cybersecurity industry giving us lectures on many concepts. Later on, we then did lab sessions using that knowledge on laptops that were provided to us by the course. It wasn't all about the teaching of cyber security, it also involved doing social activities in the evenings that include: quizzes, lockboxes, karaoke and a barbeque. It was a very nice opportunity to talk with fellow students who are interested in cyber security. Overall I recommend it to other students that are interested in cyber security but do it fast because spaces run out very fast."
